

Commercial Operation Usage Fees

- All commercial operators refueling by means of non-Jacksonville Municipal Airport equipment shall be subject to a commercial refueling fee of 400 dollars per day. This must be paid in advance of any such refueling operations. All refueling operations require prior approval of the airport manager and may only be performed in the areas designated and approved for this purpose.
 - All fuel purchased from the Jacksonville Municipal Airport by the commercial operator will be deducted from the commercial refueling fee. If the sum of fuel purchased exceeds the refueling fee, the refueling fee will be waived.
 - For operations spanning multiple days, the sum of fuel purchased during the agreed upon dates of operation shall be deducted from the refueling fees incurred, as described above. For example, if the operator purchases 900 dollars' worth of fuel during a two-day working period, the two refueling fees, totaling 800 dollars, shall be waived.
- All commercial operators desiring access to airport facilities and property for the purpose of conducting business operations shall be subject to a day-use fee of 400 dollars. This must be done in advance of entry into the airport property by support vehicles, fuel trucks, product loaders, et cetera, belonging to the commercial operation.
 - All fuel purchased from the Jacksonville Municipal Airport by the commercial operator will be deducted from the day-use fee. If the sum of fuel purchased exceeds the day-use fee, the day-use fee will be waived.
 - For operations spanning multiple days, the sum of fuel purchased during the agreed upon dates of operation shall be deducted from the day-use fees incurred, as described above. For example, if the operator purchases 900 dollars' worth of fuel during a two-day working period, the two day-use fees, totaling 800 dollars, shall be waived.

- The day use fee for operators conducting 4 or less operations per day shall be $25.00 per day, with fuel purchased from the Jacksonville Municipal Airport each day credited against that usage fee.
- The location or locations for all refueling on the Jacksonville Municipal Airport must be approved by the management of the Jacksonville Municipal Airport prior to commencement of the refueling.
